

To describe a mother, you use words like nurturing, loving & understanding. A mom is supposed to be perfect, but that is often far from the truth. Mother Superior explores the lives of mothers who are addicted to meth. This original 25-minute film, made by two young women from Salt Lake City, brings light to another side of motherhood in Utah that most people don't see, even though it could be right there under their nose.

- Salt Lake City is 3rd in the nation for meth use among women
- Last year, 37% of treatment admissions in Utah were women addicted to meth
- 57% of all meth users in treatment have at least one child
- Nearly 3/4 of women in treatment for meth are mothers
- Meth is the drug of choice for 46% of female addicts in their child-bearing years
